1ST GAME
OCTOBER 9
AT PHILLY

MYSTERY
BAFFLES
MAINE

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 29.—Philadelphia will have the honor of staging the first "no games to be played" by the Athletics and Boston Braves for the world's baseball championship. The dates are Friday, October 2, and Saturday, October 3.

The next two will be played in Boston on October 12 and 13, the 15th, if necessary, in Philadelphia, October 14, and the sixth in Boston on October 15.

Should a seventh game be necessary, the location will be decided upon by the National Commission.

All this and more was announced by the National Commission which met at the Bellevue-Stratford today, the participants being Harry Herrmann, chairman of the commission; Clifford Francis, president of the National League; James E. Gaffney, president of the Boston National League club; and Benjamin F. Shibe, president, and Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics.

GAPNEY LOSES THE TISS.
It did not take the members long to get down to business, and the first matter settled was the date. That was satisfactory, and then Mr. Shibe suggested that only one game be played in each city at a time, but that the other be by the others, and so decided.

Then Mr. Herrmann slipped a silver dollar into the air and Mr. Shibe, with a smile said Shibe Park would accommodate the two teams for the opening.

Then came the question of umpires. Following its custom of selecting umpires considered to be two best umpires, the National League announced that Kinn and Hovey would be its representatives, while the American, in order to give it the umpires a chance, selected Hildebrand and Dinsien.

WHITERS CHOOSE A SCORER.
Finally the commission chooses two official scorers, but today it departed from its custom and only named one, C. Spink of St. Louis being the man. Then Mr. Herrmann said that the second scorer would be chosen by the Baseball Writers' Association of America and that they will meet soon to designate its man.

After the rules governing the game will be the same as in previous years and the sale of tickets will be conducted upon lines similar to those of last year.

DR. McLAUGHLIN
TO BE STATE'S HEALTH CHIEF

Governor Walsh today sent to the Council the appointment of Dr. Alton J. McLaughlin, surgeon and sanitarian of the United States Public Health Service, to be chief health officer of the State. His salary will be $2,000 a year and the appointment is for five years.

This is a new office brought about by the reorganization of the State Board of Health, long advocated by the AMERICAN. Dr. McLaughlin will be the real head of the State Board of Health, taking the place of Dr. Henry Wright, chairman.

It is expected that the appointment of Dr. McLaughlin will be confirmed, though there may be some opposition from those who declared that the Governor should not go outside of the State for his chief health officer. The Governor felt that Massachusetts is the best place for his chief health officer and he believes that the best place is in the Federal Government's public health service.

Dr. McLaughlin has had a distinguished career. He was born in London, Ontario, forty-two years ago and has been in the government's service during the past fourteen years. He has served in various parts of this country and in Europe, and is now chief sanitary expert and director of the field work of the Joint Commission, with headquarters in Washington.

ELINOR LAWRENCE IS BRIDE TOMORROW
Elinor Lawrence, daughter of Bishop and Mrs. William Lawrence, tomorrow will wed Lewis H. Mills, son of Abbott Low Mills of Portland, Oregon, in the church of the Holy Spirit, Matruan. Bishop Lawrence will perform the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. Alan McE. Taylor, rector of the church. The two will live in Portland, Ore.

IS THIS GIRL LIVING OR DEAD?

Missing Mildred Sullivan, "prettiest girl of Aroostook."

Confessed Slayer of Girl Arraigned
AKRON, O., Sept. 29.—Harry Hooper, alleged slayer of Vincent T. Becker, twenty-three, mission worker, slain in the rear room of a store owned by his brother, Frank M. Becker, was arraigned today, charged with the murder of the young woman. Hooper, when captured, drew a revolver from under a mattress in his room and declared he would rather kill himself than be arrested. Detective prevented the self-confessed murderer from carrying out his plan.

Congress Plans to Adjourn in October
WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Efforts today were not forth for an adjournment of Congress by the middle of October. The plan was based upon the ability of the Senate to complete its business by that time, should there be an adjournment. It is expected that Congress will be called in extra session November 11 to take up the shipping bill and begin work on the appropriate measure.

GRIL WANTS JUSTICE

waiting automobile and go direct to my own home.

These charges against me don't worry me in the least. Believe me, I'm losing no sleep on their account. My whole connection with the case is just this:

"On Thursday, September 24, Katherine Michael, whom I had never seen before, came to my office with Mildred Sullivan, a total stranger to me.

"Miss Sullivan was in a highly nervous state, face flushed and with rapid pulse. She wanted me to treat her professionally. I made a cursory examination and found that she had already been treated in a hospital. She explained that I told her that her condition was such that no legitimate physician would cure to become involved in the case and I flatly refused to have anything to do with it.

"Upon my refusal she became violently angry. She upbraided me bitterly and went away crying.

RAPS COUNTY "SHERLOCK" ON THE CHARGE OF "FUGITIVE"

"What gets my goat is this 'fugitive from justice' business. I wasn't running away from anything. If it wasn't for the Bingham country attorney and this would-be Sherlock Holmes, trying to spend the country's money, I would have returned voluntarily. They need only have sent for me.

"Well, that's about all there is to it. I hope they will find the Sullivan girl and that soon. The sooner the better. I'm tired of being looked at as a criminal by everybody.

"When I have been in the courts on these charges, I go to some small western town and start all over. No doctor could ever do anything in New England again after all this business.

"The Boston police were very kind to me. I had good food and my own car. I was able to smoke. I was obliged to them for their courteous treatment.

"As for the whereabouts of the Sullivan girl, I have an idea she is being quiet in order to avoid publicity since we are experiencing some doctor quality of who is being quiet to protect himself.

"I do not do any more but keep her quiet to protect himself.

"I do not do any more but keep her quiet to protect himself.

"I do not do any more but keep her quiet to protect himself.

"I do not do any more but keep her quiet to protect himself.

ALICE (on the left) and Etta Pelletier, sent back to Maine today under arrest in connection with the disappearance of Mildred Sullivan, the "Prettiest Girl in Arnoctook." This picture was taken at Police Headquarters yesterday.

"I also told them that I was going to Boston for ten days on a vacation, and they both inspired me to try and find some trace of the missing girl, which I promised to do.

"I came to Boston alone and met the Pelletier girl, whom I had known in Presque Isle, through a mutual acquaintance in Cambridge. I had been here for a few days and had made up my mind to go back my search for the Sullivan girl having proved fruitless, when the police arrested me and we were arrested.

"I had intended leaving the day after the next day, and the business interfered with my plans.

"On the following day, Ralph, my eldest brother, met me. He was with Kate Michael.

"He asked her if she was having a good time at the fair and then gave her sufficient money to pay her way home. Ralph was the last one of the family to see the girl.

"When Friday passed, and then Saturday without my seeing the girl, I began an investigation. I sought the Amherst Bridge, and then at the lodging house he had been at, he declared that at Thursday night, he had gone to Mrs. Hill and seen her with the Sullivan girl.

"I told him that I had not seen the girl and that she was not with me. He said that she was not with me and that she was not with me.

"I told him that I had not seen the girl and that she was not with me. He said that she was not with me and that she was not with me.

"I told him that I had not seen the girl and that she was not with me. He said that she was not with me and that she was not with me.

BEACHEY PLANS TO LOOP LOOP FOUR TIMES

The Maine officials had evidence of a most dangerous nature against the quartet, which they refused to divulge even to me. They intimated that Andrew Briggs, the missing Sullivan girl's friend, had divulged them evidence of a most dangerous nature to warrant their coming to Boston to apprehend the suspects.

"It appears to me that Dr. Dudley is in wrong when he says that he never knew the Michael girl before she brought a Sullivan girl to the office. Only yesterday came before me a stenographer, employed by one of the best-known business houses in Boston, came to me of her own volition and said that her conscience was troubling and that she was anxious to tell what she knew about the case.

"The girl said that she had known the doctor, Katherine Michael, and the Pelletier sisters in Presque Isle. She said that she was surprised at their coming to Boston, and met them at the Bangor hotel yesterday afternoon upon their arrival. She has served as a typewriter in the position, which I will have duly sworn to and will forward to the county officials at Boston to be presented as evidence in the trial of Dr. Dudley and his three associates. Her story utterly contradicts the stories of Dr. Dudley and Katherine Michael. More than that I will not say."

Rostand and Wife Stoned by French

PARIS, Sept. 28.—The Intrigant says that Edmond Rostand, the famous poet and dramatist, his wife and the Countess Nothling, who were induced to leave Paris when the German approached, on the argument that the enemy would make them hostages, were stoned by a crowd at Chateaux during an automobile journey to Pierrefonds.

Mme. Rostand and the Countess fled so hurriedly that they traveled in evening gowns. When they attempted to get dinner at Chateaux, a crowd surrounded and accused them of cowardice. The party left dinnerless and a shower of bricks.

Hope Germans Will Quit France Soon

PARIS, Sept. 28.—Attaches of General Gallieni's staff hope that France will be free of Germans before the end of October. In discussing the situation one of them said:

"There is no doubt that the allied army is pressing home its victory. The retreat of von Kluck's army would naturally compel the retirement of the entire German force. It is my opinion that the next big battle will be fought on German and Belgian soil and that the Germans will be utterly upon the defensive."

of England, France, Germany and Russia are not permitted to use a pound of alum baking powder. The efficiency of the soldiers depends too much upon their health and endurance to risk the use of food which the authorities believe would be detrimental. Therefore the manufacture and sale of the alum powder is prohibited.

Royal Baking Powder is extensively used privately and by the military forces throughout the world. Its absolute wholesomeness, imparting as it does, healthful as well as appetizing qualities to the food, and its perfect keeping qualities in every climate and under different conditions, make it particularly desirable for all conditions of use.

UNREQUITED LOVE THE MOTIVE IN KIDNAPING

Unrequited love was today said to have been the motive behind the kidnaping of twenty-year-old Miss M. of No. 10 Gloucester place in connection with which three men, arrested after a battle in an automobile in Washington square, Weymouth, were arraigned in the Municipal Court.

Francisco Elmallo of Belmont was held in $10,000 on a charge of carrying a loaded revolver. Fred Latorale and Charles Rosetti of the North End were held in $10,000 each on abduction charges. Their cases will go to the October grand jury. The Mulla girl was in court.

Miss Mulla is said to be threatened with nervous prostration as a result of her experiences.

She was seized in front of her home by three men. She was bound and gagged and thrown into an automobile. Passing through Washington square, Weymouth, she tore the gear from her mouth and her screams and struggles attracted the police.

Joseph Mulla of No. 10 Gloucester place, sister-in-law of the girl, said today:

"Rosa and Francisco Elmallo had been going together about three years. Rosa didn't have any ring and she was as much engaged as though she had. About a month ago Rosa had a change of heart. She turned Elmallo down and since then he has been following her constantly. She told him she wanted nothing to do with him, but he persisted in forcing his affections upon her."

"Elmallo threatened Rosa, but she said to him: 'Nothing will happen to me. I am not afraid.' She was thought of then with the girl and carried away in the automobile. She came home in a terrible condition. Something had been put over her mouth and her face was scratched and her clothing torn."

The capture of the automobile was sensational. Three men were captured. A fourth, escaped.

Although the car was moving toward Thomas, chauffeur for Frank H. Coving of Weymouth, the driver, the sidewalk, managed to swing himself to the running board by throwing his body over the car. A crowd had gathered and the scene and with the aid of other members of the police and citizens attempted to place the party in the car.

When the car was moved, the man nearest him noticed his property scattered about. He picked up a heavy revolver from the car.

After a further struggle, during which only one of the captives was shot, the others were taken to the police station.

News of the order coming after a strenuous campaign by the company to operators and business men of the city. The order can be filled at once.

Medical Care for Textile Workers

LONDON, Sept. 29.—Medical supervision of employees in textile plants was urged by Dr. William Hall Coles of Haverrill before the second-day session of the semi-annual meeting of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers today. He said: "Carelessness or inattention of the employers may be due to causes over which you can have no control and which no amount of work on your part could remove or anticipate. On the other hand, this carelessness or inattention may be due to causes which you can remedy when you have found their cause."

Italy Protests Austrian Mines

ROME, Sept. 29.—The Italian government today instructed its ambassador at Vienna, Grand Duke d'Arenza, to protest against mining the Dalmatian coast with mines and to ask the Austrian government to take steps to prevent disasters from the mines already there. Some of the mines have drifted to the shore of Italy and constitute a constant menace to shipping from Italian ports. As a result the Admiralty announced today that navigation in the Adriatic is indefinitely suspended.

LAST RUSH FOR CHEAP RELEASE BEGINS TODAY

Commuters are busy today lining up railroad mileage at the last moment before the price of a quarter of a cent. Many commuters have already secured tickets for thousands of miles of travel in Massachusetts.

A final hearing on the increase in the law permits that the tariff is to go into effect before the expiration of the thirty-day suspension. The date is set by the commission. The increase on mileage books will apply only to transportation sold to persons traveling between states. If the new tariffs are not approved, interstate travelers will not be affected at all.

After tomorrow the new tariff will be in effect. The new rate of two cents per mile will be in effect after he passes the State line in either direction.

MELLEN BEFORE JURY IN PROBE OF NEW HAVEN

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The Federal Grand Jury resumed its inquiry today into the criminal status of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad. It was stated on railroad authority that when Charles H. Mellen, formerly head of the road, completes his testimony, minor employees of the road will be called as witnesses and the "big men" in the case of the railroad for the last few years will not be summoned, as their appearance is believed to be unnecessary.

A final hearing on the increase in the law permits that the tariff is to go into effect before the expiration of the thirty-day suspension. The date is set by the commission. The increase on mileage books will apply only to transportation sold to persons traveling between states. If the new tariffs are not approved, interstate travelers will not be affected at all.

Business women will find here a very large selection of appropriate waists.

Filene's

Here is one store where the elderly woman can find a suitable waist.

There are many reasons why Filene's is A very good place to buy WAISTS

The woman who wants a style all her own takes great comfort in our reproductions of foreign styles. We follow the new things very closely and can usually duplicate them at easily reached prices.

That other woman who is a crank on careful and finished sewing likes Filene's waists also. Their superior workmanship is largely due to our intimate relations with the manufacturers some of whom make only for us.

And then the woman who is not easily fitted comes here for waists, because we recognize the fact that all persons are not built alike and make our waists accordingly. The extra size woman has a section all her own here.

But the one great big reason why you should come to Filene's for waists is that the waists you want are here at the prices you want to pay, as you will see by reading on.

1. A simple messaline waist at $5.75. 2. Gold and black shadow lace and black panne velvet, $5.75. 3. The Mexican moon pattern in soft taffeta overblouse, $5.75. 4. Chiffon and Margot lace, note the long sleeves, $7.50. 5. Doublet of panne velvet, $8.75. 6. Gold mesh over chiffon, note lace cape collar, $8.75. 7. Cape waist of the modish gold lace trimmed with black velvet, $22.25.

New models in the Filene silk waist shop

MATCHING THE NEW FALL SUIT is easy here because we took the trouble to get swatches of the new materials before we ordered our waists. Russian green, midnight blue, leuc de negre, the new wine and plum shades—they are all here.

Here are plain wash silk blouses for as little as $1.95. And plain tailored messaline waists in all the new suit shades at $2.95. Some have Roman striped collars.

The $3.95 group includes basque and semi-basque waists of messaline trimmed with lace or organdie.

White crepe de chine waists are so much in demand that we show too many styles to list here—each with some distinctive touch, such as a waistcoat effect, a new collar or a plaited skirt. $5 and $5.75.

Black and black-and-white waists are so numerous as to deserve special mention. Here in taffeta, messaline, crepe de chine, charmeuse, peau de soie, chiffon and Georgette crepe. $3.95 to $18.50.

Let Prayers for Peace Arise from Multitudes on Sunday

Next Sunday, October 4, will be Peace Sunday in the churches, the day officially designated as the one on which God-fearing persons shall especially beseech the Almighty to "restore once more that concord among men and nations without which there can be neither happiness, nor true friendship, nor any wholesome fruit of toil and thought in the world."

Not next Sunday alone, but for many Sundays and other days yet to come, this appeal will rise to the throne of Omnipotence, as it has been ascending from monster meetings of the American people in days only recently past. The devotional spirit which led the Pilgrims to Plymouth Rock has survived in the American people, nor has the great admixture of foreign blood failed to bring with it creeds as devout, though different in dogma, as those of the Pilgrims and the Covenanters. Americans are emphatically a religious people and never have confronted a great public calamity without commending themselves to the guidance and the care of their God.

The AMERICAN and the other Hearst newspapers have sought to give voice to the peace sentiment which lies at the bottom of every human heart, but which needed a method of expression. In a series of great meetings in Boston, Chicago, San Francisco and other cities, culminating with the deeply reverent gathering at Grant's Tomb in New York last Sunday, the appeal has been made to both God and man that the tumult and the death agony in Europe might be stilled, the cruel wounds bound up and peace return to heal with her blessings the injuries of the lands sore ravaged with the wrath of kings.

Many tens of thousands have joined in this aspiration, yet they are as a few compared to the millions who share it, and have no way of making themselves heard. Many cities in widely separated sections of the land have joined in the appeal, and no excuse has been left for any one to doubt that the sentiment of the United States is all for peace.

But the churches scattered all over the land can even more thoroughly give voice to this sentiment. It is fitting that they should consecrate a day to this cause of mercy alone, emphasizing at that moment what they preach and what their congregations pray for at all times—the righteousness of peace and the brotherhood of man.

Whatever the church or the creed, the voice of sincere piety will be heard at the Great Throne. It is the duty of every God-fearing person to join in this supplication. Let the churches on Sunday be packed to their very doors, and let the voices of earnest supplication rise to Heaven from every city.

The warring Czar and Kaiser can send their millions of men, who have no personal quarrel, to murder and torture each other at command. They can bombard the churches of God and slay His ministers at the altar. They can make of the land smiling with the harvest that God has sent a waste, a desert and a vast burial place. And all the time they can call upon the one God to bless their arms, and praise Him for their bloody victories.

Let us send our armies of peace to the sanctuaries that we have consecrated and hold sacred. Let their prayers rise, not for the success of this army nor the bloody destruction of that, but for the restoration of love and harmony among all peoples. Let them be as an army glorious with white banners on which is inscribed the word "Peace," and whose watchword is "Blessed are the peacemakers."

The laymen have done their share. The orators and the organizers have made public the deep-seated sentiment of the American people for peace. The Church, greatest of all humanitarian agencies, is about to take up the work. Let it be aided in the efforts by congregations that will crowd every sanctuary next Sunday, and lift on high the one appeal to which no humane man can dissent, "O Lord, send us Thy peace!"

DO YOU KNOW THAT—

In the year 1913, 70,264 aliens landed in Boston, or 21,855 more than in 1912?

One Big Advantage in Goods That Are Advertised

The FIXED PRICE is the Manufacturer's Chief Asset. He Will Not Willingly Change It.

Copyright, 1914, in the Star Company

We have often pointed out to business men and to the public the fact that the man who advertises persistently and successfully in many things besides a far-seeing business man.

He is one who stakes his reputation and his fortune ON HONEST DEALING. When a man has put millions of dollars into FACTORIES, he does not set fire to them.

When an honest advertiser has put millions of dollars into ADVERTISING, he does not set fire to his reputation for honesty. The man who advertises a fixed price for certain goods—shoes, or food, or tools, or clothing, or any other supply—is in many cases today making very great sacrifices TO AVOID RAISING HIS PRICES.

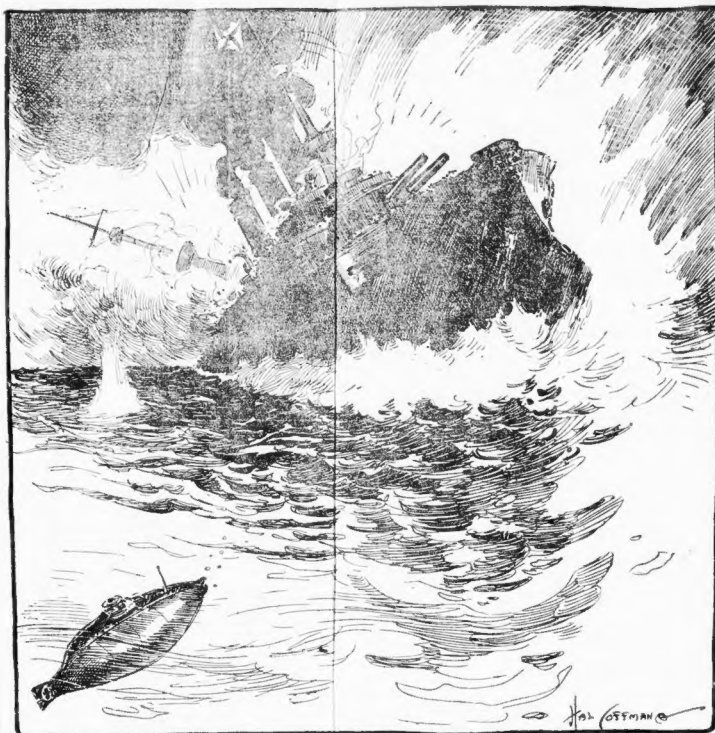

His money has been put into the reputation for honesty, into the reputation for FIXED PRICES, and he endures the hardship of war times, high prices for raw material, etc., rather than tear down the price that he has built up, and the name that he has built up by spending millions of dollars for advertising.

There is nothing like standardization in price, in quality, in methods of doing business.

Occasionally a man may come with some special inducement, some flash-in-the-pan effort to attract public attention.

But what keeps business steady, men regularly employed, prices regular, is the business built on AN ESTABLISHED NAME, built up by advertising the truth, sticking to principles and prices, maintaining the structure of A GOOD NAME that is infinitely more solid and valuable than anything made of brick, or steel, or concrete.

The Submarine

Frantically goes the battleship, mistress of the seas,
With her gaudy colors blazing to the breeze.
Stoutly steams Leviathan, bursting waves to spray—
Mistress of the ocean, what shall her way be?
Far below the surface where the slimy congers lurk,
Stirs a hidden menace, groping through the murky
Flaming dot nor pennant, through the glaucous dark
Steals the unseen danger, silent as the shark.

Ah, the glorious battleship! queen of all the deep!
Here the ocean highways, here to guard and keep.
Steaming on her duty, wise the foe that shuns
The lightning stroke that flashes through the thunder of her guns.
Now the hidden terror glimpses on the sea
Invincible Leviathan, in pomp of admiralty.
A moment's aim! a lever pulled; a rending, stunning crash,
And where the dreadnought floated the empty eddies splash.

Nightly was the battleship steaming in her pride,
Now between her shattered frame the cold and conger hide.
All her awful business done through the redoubled form,
With no pomp or boasting, the killer snuffs her home.

—WEX JONES.

Sooner or Later

A WORD ON WAR

Ez fer war, I call it murder,—
There you hev it plain and flat;
I don't want to go no furdur
Than my Testament for that;
God hez sed so plump and fairly,
It's ez long ez it is broad,
An' you've got to git up airy
Ef you want to take in God.

Taint your epplets an' feathers
Make the thing a grain more right;
Taint afoleerin' your bell-wethers
Will excuse ye in His sight;
Ef you take a sword and dror it,
An' go stick a feller thru,
Gov'ment aint to answer for it,
God'll send the bill to you.

Wul'the use o' meetin'-goins'
Every Sabbath, wet or dry,
Ef it's right to go a-movin'
Feller-men like oats an' rye?
I dunno but wul'the pooly
Trainin' round in belaid coats,—
But it's curus Christian dooty
This 'ere cuttin' folks' throats.

The Going Away of the Bride

By DOROTHY DIX

It was a beautiful wedding, with their hair in long braids and their backs. We wander up to her room, was so characteristic of her. Like her it is, the very air is filled with her favorite perfume. The walls are half covered with photographs of good looking youths, we wonder if she is a bit of a savage at heart and has in those trophies of her conquests the walls, as Indians are said to adorn their dwellings with the skulls of their victims.

Here are a hundred cottons, and a score carols, and a tennis racket, and her golf sweater, and a bit of embroidery, worked on when in painful moods, and which you think will train yourself here, to your empty days, since the no girl in the house any more.

When She Returns

There by the window is a table where she sits, so characteristically sweet, her girl friends when they come gossip over their parties, their beauty, and gowns. When she comes back to visit in her home, they will come to drink with her again, and will take up the thread of their friendship where it was left off, but it can never be the same again.

When she comes back there is a new, sweet gravity on her face, one who has looked for first time seriously at life as found that life is duty. And Psyche will have found it. But we want back the bit that was a flash of life, color, and joy, as it fit and down the dark corridor. But the twilight has faded, and their little room is full of gloom, and we close the door as we go out, as if we all of her girlish days, but she has gone away, how the quiet old balls Tom and quiet keeps in our ears. "The smile the one lover's heart has bro, more."

The Past Comes Back

We are not sorry. Oh, no. It is a happy marriage—everybody says so—and they are so absolutely in love with each other, and we are very glad. Yet all at once the house is still and empty, and it almost seems as if death and despair, not marriage and laughter, had gone out of the portal only so, brief days.

THE SEEMING

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

HOW do you know in the city

Where, oh, so little is true,

That brotherhood, love and pity

Are hidden in store for you?

Your friends of today and tomorrow

Are eager to share your fun.

But now do you know that your sorrow

Will ever be shared by one?

The city, the pitiless city!

Is here the woman's lure

For the wealthy, famous and witty—

And sneering it spurs its poor.

So I follow the brook, the gleaming

And the meadows stretching far,

Awy from the world seeming

Of the camp where the millions are.
